

Jennifer Bisceglie
Founder & Executive Vice Chair, Interos Inc.

Jennifer Bisceglie is the Founder and Executive Vice Chair of Interos, the AI-first supply chain resilience company creating the most trusted and transparent supply chains in the world.

Interos empowers numerous Global Fortune 500 companies, the U.S. Department of Defense, and other leading organizations take control of risk for competitive advantage. As the first, and only, fully automated supply chain resilience platform, Interos' pioneering scoring and relationship discovery technologies protect enterprises from cyber-attacks, regulatory violations, financial collapse, catastrophe, ESG concerns and other multi-tier shocks.

A highly sought-after global supply chain architect and strategist with over 25 years of industry experience, Jennifer regularly appears in Bloomberg, Financial Times, Washington Post, CNBC, Yahoo Live, Forbes, BBC, and other top-tier media outlets. Jennifer has also been called on to share her expertise with numerous congressional committees and conferences, including the Congressional Cybersecurity Caucus, the Homeland Security Governmental Affairs Committee, and the U.S.– China Economic Security Review Commission.

As a woman business owner, Jennifer is also a long-time advocate for empowering other female entrepreneurs, working on behalf of organizations including Women Impacting Public Policy (WIPP), where she served as a chairperson from 2010 through 2016. Jennifer was also previously selected as the U.S. delegate to the Women's 20, an engagement group to the G20 focused on addressing gender inequality.

